

Principal Environmental Consultant

Hansen Bailey is a boutique environmental consulting firm servicing the mining and related sectors with a reputation for high quality work and client service. Our company focuses on attracting and developing high calibre professionals and puts a strong emphasis on maintaining a healthy work-life balance. We are a growing company with offices in both inner-city Brisbane and Singleton, in the Hunter Valley NSW. We are currently working on development applications for major resource projects in Queensland, the Northern Territory and New South Wales.

We have a current opportunity for a Principal Environmental Consultant to join our Brisbane office. Reporting to the Brisbane Director, the position requires a high calibre professional with a minimum of 10 years consulting experience and a strong background in environmental impact assessment and project approvals. The role also provides the opportunity for an ambitious and motivated candidate to develop and manage an in-house team.

To be successful in this dynamic and challenging role you should have up-to-date knowledge of the latest environmental legislation and a strong track record in environmental impact assessment, project approvals and environmental management. You will require excellent leadership, project management, communication, report writing, and teamwork skills.

If you have leadership aspirations and can picture yourself contributing to a strong team, then this is a truly outstanding career opportunity. Please forward your written application highlighting your relevant experience to admin@hansenbailey.com.au.
